Gentlemen:

I have been asked to express my views regarding the general policy and philosophy underlying the division of Claims Conference funding between support for Holocaust survivors and educational or cultural projects. Presently, about 80% of CC resources are devoted to victim support, and roughly 20% to educational / cultural projects.

We all agree that the needs of survivors are paramount and should under no circumstances be impeded. At the same time, however, it is also vitally important that the lessons of the Holocaust be remembered, taught and preserved. As a 30-year veteran of Nazi war crimes trials, a representative of German Jewry, and a personally affected Nazi victim, I strongly believe that the present 80%-20%- split among allocations is fair, equitable and serves the interest of survivors as well as future generations who must learn the painful lessons of the past.

Best regards,

Fritz Weinschenk
President
